

Binder Twine

Every Farmer in Bourbon County
Should Use the Proof Hemp Twine.

It is made from a home product. It works to perfection on any make of binder. Every bale is guaranteed to tie 200 bundles more than a bale of sisal twine. If you try it you will use no other. It's economical.

IN CIRCUIT COURT

The Wheels of Justice Have Been Grinding Slowly But Surely.

Since our last issue the wheels of justice in Circuit Court have been grinding slowly but surely. The following offenders have been tried and convicted:

Abe Browning, for stealing a buggy from the livery stable of Walter Martin, was given one year in the penitentiary.

Aaron Kennedy, who entered the meat house of Mrs. Amelia Wilcox last winter, and appropriated the contents for his own use, on evidence of previous conviction for felony, received a ten year sentence to the pen.

Jesse Lewis plead guilty of horse stealing and was given five years.

Will Fisher, for malicious shooting, was sent to the penitentiary for three years.

The jury failed to agree in the case of Commonwealth vs. Paris Electric Light Company.

C. E. Tackett confessed of stealing a cow and got off with one year in the penitentiary.

About forty indictments for selling liquor to minors were disposed of by a fine of $50 against each offender.

The grand jury returned an indictment against D. G. Taylor for assaulting Joseph Houston. Both are prominent Bourbon county farmers and disagreed about a settlement in which both were interested, it being alleged that Taylor struck Houston severely with a club.

The grand jury made its final report to the Court and was discharged. The report recommended repairs at the jail, saying that it was as well kept as it possibly could be while in such bad repair. In regard to the County Infirmary it said: "We have examined into the condition of the county poor farm and find that the main dwelling house there needs a new roof. We understand that the same has been contracted for, but there should be no further delay about putting on this new roof, as the absence of it means more and more injury to county property. There ought to be a room set apart for the incurables, and one for those with contagious diseases, so that those suffering from incurable, loathsome diseases may not be in the same room with another unfortunate, to the distress of that one. There is a negro man there of unsound mind and our idea is that he could be better cared for and ought to be sent to one of the State asylums. The inmates express themselves as pleased with the kindly treatment given them by the keeper and his family. The institution is a credit to our county and to those who have the management and control of it."

In regard to gambling the report says:

"This grand jury is convinced that the consensus of opinion of the decent, lawabiding citizens of Bourbon county, is that gambling, heretofore prevalent in Paris, should no longer be tolerated."

"We have returned two indictments charging felony against persons who have set up, operated and conducted gambling card games for compensation, percentage, and commission. From what members of this grand jury know of indictments heretofore returned, trials, convictions and warnings to those engaged in this vice, the time has come when all such should know that if they conduct such games in this community the penitentiary shall be their reward."

—We find the following on the register of the Hotel Bourbon Sunday, June 17th: J. W. Porter, Lexington, Ky.; J. S. Miller and Robt. H. Smith, Columbia, Mo. Written after Mr. Smith's name was: "Born in Millersburg, Ky., and left here in 1826 and never returned to Kentucky until now." Mr. Smith was born in the house occupied by Ora H. Collier, parsonage of the Christian church. He visited the premises and drank water from the old well. Mr. Miller, we understand, is a grandson of the Miller who owned the land sold the lots on which the town of Millersburg stands.

Pickpockets at Work.

Pickpockets were at work in the big crowd at Frankfort Saturday and a number of empty pockets were reported to the police department of that city. Only small amounts were secured in each instance, most of the work being done while trains were coming into the station and during the laying of the corner stone at the capital grounds. Dr. John R. McKee, of Woodford, and a man giving the name of George McCann, but whose address was not known, reported to the police that they had lost sums of money. Cabel Bullock of Lexington, of the State Insurance Department, was also "touched" for a small amount.

OPTICIAN.

Dr. Bowen the optician, will be at A. J. Winters & Co.'s on Thursday, July 11th. Examination free.
